the letter from the editors

Dear ABSA,

This semester has gone by fast and finals are already coming up! We hope you are studying hard and if you need a break, take a look at the Informer! For the December 2009 issue, we added company spotlights from the company sponsors that have spoken to us at the GMs for the purpose of sharing more of what the companies have to offer. We also added some fun columns that we hope you will enjoy.

Here's a huge thanks to the media directors for all the pictures and to writers for writing the Informer articles. We couldn't have done it without you guys! Also, thank you Angela and all the officers for being amazing!

Good luck on your finals and happy holidays to all! Enjoy :)

Best,
Mark, Connie, & Tiffany

GENERAL MEETINGS

#6 Ernest & Young

Many ABSA members waited for this day to come. Three amazing representatives from Ernest & Young came to our sixth general meeting to give us tips about business etiquette.

Ernest & Young, one of the big four accounting firms, is based in New York and has over 100 operations all over the world.

Three representatives JuHee Williamson, Jessica Snider, and Leigh Hall came to our sixth GM. Ju-Hee emphasized how important it is to remember other people's name. She also told us to introduce ourselves in a unique way. For instance, she introduces herself as "my name is not Julie, June, or -Jennifer. It's Ju-Hee."

In addition to Ju-Hee's advice, Jessica Snider and Leigh Hall taught us valuable business etiquette. Some of the manners that they emphasized were "B & D," bread on right and drink on left, firm hand shake, and knowing when to start eating in a restaurant.

After the great presentation, all three representatives gladly stayed for further questions, and many ABSA members rushed to introduce themselves. Overall, GM was very interesting and exhilarating.

#7 family event

The last family event was a lot of fun, and it encouraged us to work together and communicate well with our family. We had to first work together to match up pictures of pumpkins and gourds to their proper names to receive the first of a series of clues that we then had to decode. The clues were tough but a lot of fun to figure out. Our last task was to bring back a cover page with a different EID for every family member. I'm pretty sure everyone in the Mill Lab was watching us dig through the recycling bins and super jealous of all the fun we were having.

The second part of the competition was to collect printouts of jack-o-lanterns to earn extra points. There was an orange one that was worth 100 points, but no one found it because Shara hid it on the first floor, which like no one even knew existed. Our family totally should have won, except we forgot to go get a copy of the Daily Texan, but it's okay because we all had a great time. Yay family events!

For the 8th General Meeting this year, we had one of our wonderful sponsors, Chevron, come speak to us. Representing Chevron was the former president of ABSA, Jeena Lee. She spoke to us about her experiences within ABSA, from her director position all the way up to president. She told us how ABSA has affected her professionally and how much she misses it as well.

Jeena also talked about Chevron and how they place a huge emphasis on safety. If you type too fast, your computer will lock up, and they have desks that raise and lower so you can stand while you work. Chevron also places importance on taking short breaks and getting exercise. In addition to that, they also have cultural and social groups, although they are not as involved as ABSA is according to Jeena.

Chevron offers a rotational position for a lot of its new full-time hires. Employees rotate between three positions within three different locations. Overall, it was great seeing our former leader doing well in the real world, and we wish her all the best!

study abroad

perspective, and, simply, to see the world. From there, she delved into the technical details, outlining the three different methods of studying abroad as well as the application process.

After Claudia, the five international students, from Brazil, New Zealand, Australia, the Czech Republic, and China, spoke on their personal experiences. In addition to having great exotic accents, these students offered first-hand knowledge of their countries. The Czech student's account of the Czech Republic as "the heart of Europe" and thus, a "gateway to all other European countries" as well as his claim that "Austin doesn't even compare to the parties in Prague" definitely sparked serious interest for the University of Economics in Prague.

Overall, the study abroad panel opened our eyes to a world beyond our borders. Since we received a study abroad info session credit for the meeting, I was glad to schedule my appointment with a study abroad coordinator soon after.

Eric Tsang asked, "What is the implication of the green dot on the Deloitte's official logo?" On November 12, 2009, Deloitte speakers Greg Endo and Chad Robottom came to ABSA's 10th general meeting to speak about the company and their professional experiences. Greg Endo graduated from McCombs School of Business and is currently an audit partner in the Dallas office. Chad Robottom graduated from Louisiana State University and is currently an audit senior at Deloitte.

Though this GM was shorter than the rest, Greg and Chad's memorable presentation was packed with interesting contents relating to Deloitte. In addition, their unique PowerPoint slides were filled with appealing visuals. Who doesn't find a picture of owls fascinating? Greg and Chad also showed us a video message from Deloitte's CEO. This truly shows the Deloitte's professionalism and explains the company's success as one of the Big 4 accounting firms.

Overall, I was glad to attend this general meeting. Mr. Endo responded to Eric's question, "We do not know, but it does make a good marketing technique because everyone asks about it."

#11

GM #11's family event showed off some hidden singing and dancing talents of ABSA members. The battle for Best Family of the Year continued as families played through their way in the ABSA version of Don't Forget the Lyrics that's based off a television show.

In each round, every family sent out a representative to sing and dance to the chose song. As the music continued, the players displayed their skills for Shara, hoping to earn bonus points. As soon as the music stopped, the players had a few seconds to fill in the blanks with correct lyrics. Those who got all the words right earned points for their families. After 6 rounds, a final round was created as tie-breaker, and Justin Santos was the unbiased judge. Despite each player's attempt to flaunt his/her dancing skills in front of Justin, John Terada emerged victorious.

This family event was filled with cheers and whistles, certainly one of the loudest family events so far. And after seeing some of those people dance, you may never look at them in the same way again.

COMPANY SPOTLIGHTS

conocoPhillips

Majorie Cheng

What is the company's most important value?

Safety is highly stressed at ConocoPhillips as our business operations can expose employees and contractors to operational and environmental risk. However our safety focus is not just in our field locations, but our corporate offices as well. This year our Houston headquarters undertook an initiative to achieve an elite OSHA safety certification status - VPP (Voluntary Protection Program) Star. This is normally given to field locations, and VPP Star status has already been awarded to other ConocoPhillips sites.

Also just as important is our value for People. This is evidenced in the training and development resources that are devoted to employees throughout their careers - from internship to management level. In addition the company demonstrates care for the well being and work-life balance of the employee through our Health & Wellness facilities and programs. Last year ConocoPhillips also began an initiative focusing on People & Inclusion which has given us the opportunity to refocus on diversity, development, retention, and employee engagement. As a direct result our employee network groups, like the Asian American Network have received even more support from ConocoPhillips management.

What does the company look for when hiring its employees and interns?

The ideal candidate that we look to bring into ConocoPhillips demonstrates the ability to learn and excel (often reflected in a student's academic record), leadership and initiative (involvement in student organizations like ABSA), strong collaboration and teamwork skills, and confident communication skills.

Another factor is cultural and motivational fit. We want our employees to find satisfaction in the types of roles and opportunities we offer. So we also assess whether the candidate's interest and preferences would be a good match for a career at ConocoPhillips.

What distinguishes the company from its competitors ?

What makes ConocoPhillips unique from the other energy majors is its culture. The company has its roots from two companies that grew in small towns in Oklahoma. Although the company has expanded and grown we've still maintained much of those same values. There is a strong emphasis on work-life balance and development, and people have a genuine interest and care for their co-workers.

american airlines

Winston Lam

What is the company's most important value?

Safety is the underpinning of all that we do. When 250,000 people each day trust you with their business, every process in your operation has to be embedded with safety measures.

What does the company look for when hiring its employees and interns?

We look for mental athletes - individuals who are analytical, creative and exhibit responsibility and integrity. As a new college hire at AA, you will be entrusted with routes or with accounts or with airport stations. We need people who can quickly ramp up and help make positive changes in their daily business function.

What distinguishes the company from its competitors?

AA has long been regarded as the leader in commercial aviation. First airline lounge, first transcon jet service, first female airline captain, first African-American airline captain, first frequent flier program, first electronic reservations system, first to offer electronic ticketing, first to offer onboard internet. Creating and innovating so that our customers have the best travel experience possible is ingrained in our DNA.

chevron

Jeena Lee

What is the company's most important value?

All the values Chevron has are all equally weighted as important! (Integrity, Trust, Ingenuity, Partnership, Protecting People & the Environment and High Performance). All these values are what makes up our vision of "The Chevron Way" which explains who we are, what we do, what we believe and what we plan to accomplish. It also establishes a common understanding within the Chevron business and community.

What does the company look for when hiring its employees and interns?

Chevron looks for students who have leadership, relevant work experience, interpersonal skills like communication skills and teamwork skills

Tip: When talking to recruiters in interviews, make sure you have solid examples to back up your resume and avoid using filler words (i.e. ums, hmmm, like)

What distinguishes the company from its competitors?

All the competitors are great companies that are suited for certain personality types and work styles. I think that Chevron's the best for me because the company really cares about my well being, growth and promotes work life balance. Chevron has a 9/80 schedule where we have every other Friday off and this is extremely helpful in many ways such as reducing pollution from transportation and traffic on Fridays, enabling employees to run their errands and make doctor appointments, spend more time with family, etc. We also have a college hire program called Horizons, a 5 year program dedicated to developing employees in functional or technical training and also provide a mentor. You also have the opportunity to manage your career by being rotated to another position of your interest in 18-24 months!

What is the company's most important value?

Our firm's values are expressed in three sentences. Every year, we are encouraged to nominate someone for the "Chairman's Value Award" who represent the three EY value statements:

Ernst & Young Values

Who we are:

- People who demonstrate integrity, respect and teaming
- People with energy, enthusiasm and the courage to lead
- People who build relationships based on doing the right thing

What does the company look for when hiring its employees and interns?

We have just excellent and fabulous recruiting team leaders, and client serving personnel that are involved throughout the recruiting process. To summarize in three bullet points (I love summarizing!):

- excellent client-serving skills
- strong written and verbal communication skills
- strong analytical, teamwork and organizational skills integrity, maturity, dependability, a positive attitude and enthusiasm in the performance of responsibilities

I personally also look at the GPA. I firmly believe that GPA does represent whether that person did his/her best to excel in his/her own environment. I don't believe it necessarily represents the level of intelligence one has as much as the "efforts" one made.

What distinguishes the company from its competitors?

The firm's commitment to it's people. Ernst & Young is committed to helping our people achieve their potential through our four pillars of opportunities (including mobility), learning and development, inclusive and flexible environment, and communities. I love my team members and colleagues in the office. But most of all, I LOVE our partners! After all, you want to work in an organizations where you can identify with the leaders and love to work with them! When they listen to you, pay a personal attention to your needs, and love to work with you as much as you love to work with them, that's a perfect working environment. That, to me, is what clearly distinguishes Ernst & Young from others, whether it is another Big 4, or an industry company. I can talk about numerous stories on this topic. Every time, I achieve a goal, accomplishment, or even a small task, I get a hand written note from our partners. When I was promoted to a senior manager, I got six hand-written congratulatory notes from partners that I have worked with, Indianapolis, San Jose, New York, Houston, Dallas and San Antonio. On my birthday, I know I am getting pings and e-mails from my colleagues and partners, so sometimes I hide myself from Sametime (our firm's instant messenger) to avoid my system getting overloaded. I was sick for a month last year, and my partner collected all the cards, messages and gifts for me, and visited me at home in person. I received her kids' cards, a huge bag of fire-hot cheetos (my favorite!), t-shirts, small goodies, etc via UPS almost every day. I didn't feel like I was away from work for a month! I can go on and on about this, but you get my drift.

PROFESSIONAL

consulting case

You'll always get something out of Consulting Team's case workshops, whether it's learning about a new problem that a company or industry faces, seeing how to create a professional PowerPoint, hearing experienced students present the cases, or simply enjoying Wendy questioning the members on the team until they are speechless.

Every Wednesday at 5:30 pm, ABSA's very own consulting team delivers the weekly case that Wendy assigns. The team has one week to analyze the case and present a solution. Because the cases are very detailed and contain all the necessary information, the team is not allowed to use any form of search engines. Any numbers needed about the market in general are made from reasonable assumptions. Then, at the workshop, the team presents the case, which clearly shows all the hard work involved.

The case workshops are very helpful if you plan on competing in case competitions, like the ABSA case competition that took place on November 14. The insights you gain from the workshops will not only benefit you in your classes but also in your future, where analyzing a case can be a routine task in the business world. So definitely take this wonderful opportunity and come out to the workshops on Wednesdays!

mentorship social

There was a great turnout at the mentorship social as members were excited to meet their mentors and families for the first time. We started with a quick icebreaker to share some interesting facts about ourselves. Then we played the human scavenger hunt, where families raced against each other to find members on their team with certain unique traits. We played several rounds, and all the teams were extremely competitive. It was definitely a close game, but in the end we had a tie breaker to determine the winning team that would get first dibs on food. I thought it was a great way for families to bond because they had to work efficiently together under a time crunch.

After the intense game, we enjoyed pasta from Fazoli's and chatted with the mentors. There was so much food that basically everyone returned for seconds. At the end, some families were so engaged in their conversations that they didn't want to leave. The mentors have a lot of wisdom that they've accumulated over their careers, and they were eager to share that information with us. We had good food, fun games, and awesome company. I may be biased, but I think the event was a success!

i-team workshop #2

The second ABSA Investment Team Workshop took place at 7 PM on October 27 in the Sanchez Education Building. This meeting was a bit different from traditional Investment Team meeting. It was spiced up with the scrumptious smell of Tiff's Treats and competitive spirit from attendants.

The event was planned as a Jeopardy game with a blue spiffy slideshow organized by the eager new I-team members. As everyone was divided into three groups, Justin and Hans, the heads of Investment Team, set ground rules for the game. The rules were as follows: 1) Any member from each team can stand up to answer questions. 2) The player must stand up and be recognized by Justin or Hans for the answer to count. 3) The answer must be presented as a question (i.e., "What is gold?"). The categories for questions in the game were famous and infamous people, I-team/ABSA trivia, stocks, etc.

Although everyone was somewhat shy and polite at first, they all soon became deeply involved in the game. Trivia super stars and well-informed ABSA members courageously challenged difficult questions like "Who is Raj Rajaratnam?" At this event, secrets of the Investment Team members were uncovered.

After an hour, everyone left the Sanchez building with a tummy full of heart-warming cookies and, for the lucky ones, a promised gift card to Chipotle. As for the general reaction of the laughing students leaving the workshop, the answer was uniform. "What is AWESOME?"

cultural workshop : csa on china

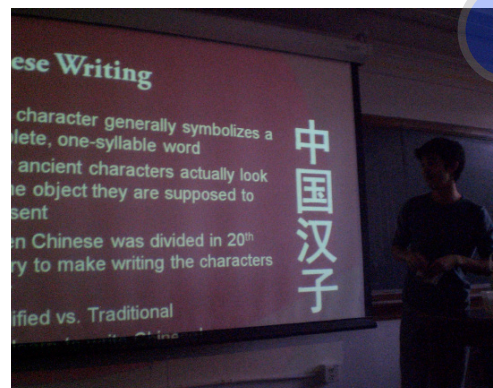

On October 19th 2009, ABSA held its fall semester Cultural Workshop with the Chinese Students Association (CSA). The two CSA representatives, Tanisha Shang and Ricky Leon started off the workshop by feeding us delicious egg custard pie, which is a popular Chinese pastry, and homemade bubble tea.

Then, Tanisha and Ricky began their PowerPoint presentation, beginning with Chinese traditions such as Chinese New Year and the Dragon Boat Festival, and ending with a quick lesson on writing Chinese numbers. As I struggled to copy Tanisha's graceful hand movements as she wrote characters on the board, Ricky revealed some interesting differences in pronunciations of certain words that can sharply change meaning depending on the tone of certain letters.

Nearing the end of their presentation, Ricky and Tanisha showed us two Youtube videos: one, a video of "Beijing Welcomes You" featuring Jackie Chan for the Summer Olympics 2008, and the other, a children's video for teaching colors in Chinese. Both were very interesting, but I have to admit, the children's video left quite an impression because never will I forget that "hong means red."

case competition

It was 7:30 AM on Saturday, November 14 and students packed the business school dressed in suits and characterized by their tired eyes, were yearning for a caffeine fix. The day of the case competition was finally here. Following the kick-off on the previous Monday, 20 teams of students spent a week diligently researching and formulating a solution to corporate social responsibility and sustainability for our sponsor, Dell. As the day commenced, teams dispersed to their respective rooms and presented their ideas to a panel of judges hoping to convey all the hard work and time they had invested brainstorming an award winning solution.

After preliminary rounds and a delicious lunch courtesy of Jason's Deli, teams who would be advancing to finals were announced. Those who made the cut were tested in the final rounds as judges questioned their solutions probing for holes in their logic. A 3-course dinner was provided for finalist teams and judges at the AT&T Executive Center to wrap up the competition and reward top-notch participants. At the end of the day, the top three teams were announced and generously awarded cash prizes. Congratulations to the teams and great job Executive Branch for planning yet another successful case competition!

small business & entrepreneurship panel

On a pleasant Monday night, several dozen future entrepreneurs and interested students gathered to eat some delicious cupcakes and learn about entrepreneurship from four accomplished guest speakers. By the end of the night, most everyone was awed and inspired by our guests' amazing stories about their entrepreneurial achievements.

After an introduction to the concept of entrepreneurship by Tristan Mace, the president of a networking club for entrepreneurs (Texas Ventures), the other three panelists introduced themselves.

Andrew Ma, UT graduate and former ABSA member, has founded multiple businesses over the years. One of his warnings as a small business owner was to look out for the high cost of healthcare. Polkadots Cupcake Factory founder Olga Lee started out in chemical engineering and worked a corporate job until she got the opportunity to start out her own shop here in Austin. Olga's advice: never work with your spouse. Larry Huang, also a UT grad, warned of the relatively high cost of networking when the most expensive meal in your day is cup ramen.

Overall, the night was a great way for students to network and hear personal stories from entrepreneurs. Who knows? We may have the next Michael Dell in our midst!

college 101

HBSA Presents
College 101
2009

While students crowd Reliant in the hopes of winning some money in the case competition, a few volunteered for College 101. Hosted by HBSA, College 101 is a one-day event designed to give high-school students insights of college life.

From tours to student panels, high-school students from the Austin area get to experience the people, the culture, and the atmosphere of UT. I volunteered to be part of the student panel and to serve lunch while others volunteered to register students, give tours, and discuss college funding options for low-income students.

During the student panel session, high-school students were given the opportunity to ask any questions they had regarding college. Many on the panel came from various backgrounds so we were successful in offering first-hand experience advice to the students. At lunch, we withheld our temptation to eat the food that we were to serve the students. That day, the students got to experience the life portrayed by college-brochures. They sat on the South Mall lawn talking, laughing, and eating with their friends.

Other than getting a cool new T-shirt, ABSA volunteers gained a sense of self-satisfaction knowing that we have offered some insight to the students that we wished someone would have offered us when we were in high school.

dallas company field trip

On November 20-21, ABSA traveled to Dallas for our annual in-state company field trip. After meeting early in the morning in front of Littlefield Fountain, we set off for Dallas. A few hours later, we all met up in front of the JCPenney headquarters in the beautiful West Plano area. There, we met with Michael Hernandez and learned all about JCPenney from career opportunities, to different job functions, to how they are becoming more environmentally friendly. We also took a tour of their building, which was built to resemble a mall.

After JCPenney, we quickly made our way to American Airlines where we met up with Winston, a former ABSA member to learn more about American Airlines. We got to tour the flight control area, the flight attendant training area, as well as the flight simulator. The flight attendant training area included a large pool and several replicas of airplanes to help them train for all kinds of disasters. We also got a peek at a flight simulator that was turned on. We were the only tour that has been able to do this. The simulator is extremely realistic. It's very close to the real thing.

After our wonderful company tours, we ate a delicious Korean meal at Seoul Garden and went to Patrick Chen's house, whose parents were kind and gracious enough to let us all spend the night. We played games, karaoke, and hung out until we finally went to sleep. The next day, we went shopping at Northpark Mall and ate lunch with alumni at Bistro B. From there, we all headed back to Austin.

What made you choose to join ABSA?

I thought it would be a great chance to make friends and I wanted to get involved in an organization. More importantly, there's food every Thursday.

What do you enjoy most about going to all the events?

Seeing familiar faces and having fun. I always have a good time at ABSA events.

If you could be any color in a Crayola box, what color would you be and why?

I would be yellow. You can guess why.

What is your favorite weird food combination?

I like eating dessert with dinner. That's right, with.

If you were on the cover of a magazine, which one would it be and why?

Time for being Person of the Year. Just kidding, probably the Informer because it seems like I have no life outside ABSA.

What made you choose to join ABSA?

After I went to the first ABSA GM, I was amazed that there were so many people and that all the officers looked really professional. Also ABSA hosts many different events and offers many opportunities for leadership and development.

What made you apply for the professional director position this year?

Being a professional director is a great opportunity to get to know all the members and officers and network with company recruiters. Furthermore, I want to get involved in the logistical preparations of GM and to schedule speakers for General Meetings.

If you had to describe your day as a traffic sign, what would it be?

Under Construction

If you were the eighth dwarf, what would your name be?

Lucky

What was the best advice you were ever given?

Treat people the way you would want to be treated.

club party

ABSA and TASA's club party at Ace's Lounge provided a much-needed outlet for its members after an exhausting week on Friday, 10/23. The TASA Night Market at Gregory Plaza preceded the club party, where a whole host of performances were held.

At Ace's Lounge, some danced the night away to a mix of hip hop and rap music while others relaxed on the couches or mingled at booths. Wave after wave of ABSA and TASA members joined the party, and at one point the club was completely packed! The event was so popular that by the end of the night, the two organizations were able to raise more than $600.

CORN MAZE

On October 25, 2009, ABSA had a social at the Sweet Berry Farm Corn Maze. We drove an hour out into the Austin countryside to Marble Falls, TX. It was a very interesting location. The maze was in the shape of Texas and was about 4 acres large. The objective of the maze was to locate different Texas lakes. When you found one, you hole punched your game card and continue searching for the other lakes. The maze took 1 – 1.5 hours to finish, and if you found and hole punched all the lakes, you got a free drink courtesy of Sweet Berry Farm.

In addition to the maze, Sweet Berry Farm offered many other family oriented activities such as scarecrow stuffing, hayrides, a petting zoo, and multiple photo opportunities. They also had pumpkins, gourds, and squash of all sizes to purchase or look at. Sweetberry Farms also offered homemade ice cream including pumpkin flavored ice cream, which I heard was excellent.

Sweet Berry Farm is a very popular attraction that draws in thousands of people every year. If you didn't get a chance to make it out this year, definitely try to go next year.

coffee chat

ABSA had our first ever Coffee Chat featuring Professor Hallman, an MBA professor who is also involved with the Financial Analyst Program. We gathered at Cafe Medici on The Drag to drink free coffee and have an informal chit chat.

To start off, we learned a little bit about Dr. Hallman. He currently lectures at UT and works at his consulting company every other day of the week. In response to our first and most pressing question, how the economy will affect us after graduation, he informed us that the ones hit hardest by a recession are those who have had a job for 3-4 years and have received raises but haven't advanced very far. As fresh graduates, we are still relatively cheap labor, especially if we are very hardworking in our positions. He also shared that when hiring, he takes note of a student's grades not as an indicator of their intelligence but the level of their work ethic. In particular, he advised students to take econometrics and statistics classes to stand out as a better candidate when recruiting for consulting firms. This is just a snapshot of all that we learned from the very distinguished Dr. Hallman.

Having the chance to ask him questions was a great opportunity, and I highly recommend going to the next Coffee Chat!

alumni ice skating

On Friday, November 6th, ABSA held its traditional iceskating social. However, this year, the social was combined with Alumni Weekend, and as a result, both new and old members received the opportunity to mingle with the alumni who were able to make the event. As usual, there was a great turnout, and everyone seemed to enjoy themselves both on and off the ice. Though some struggled to maintain their balance, others took to the ice quite easily.

Many watched as Patrick Chen gracefully spun in circles, while others looked on as Pil Jeong was lifted by Nathan Chen in a magnificent partner routine. Even though skating is enjoyable enough, some officers (i.e.- Michael Yang and Henry Shi) chose to quench their thirst for excitement by scraping up ice into snowballs and shoving them down peoples' shirts. Luckily, those people took their revenge and the two boys got a taste of their own medicine. All in all, alumni ice skating was a huge success, and I hope there are more to come in the future.

Written by Courtney Chen

It was an early Saturday game. The sun was shining, the weather was nice, and Texas was playing the University of Central Florida. Tim Tran had had the upper deck specially reserved for ABSA members and alumni for this event (thanks Tim!).

Before everyone got there and there were less than twenty of us, the waiters started bringing up the appetizers. There were platters and

alumni watch party

platters of mozzarella sticks, cheesy bread, and chicken fingers. And they just kept on coming! Eventually we had about four or five platters of each, and they were running out of room to put all of the food.

Apparently they had gotten our order wrong and thought we had ordered 2 dozen platters of each item instead of just two. Since it was their mistake, they didn't charge us anything extra, but told the kitchen to stop pumping out the appetizers. It all worked out in our favor, and Henry was giddy with the amount of food in front of him. As more people came during the second half, the pizza also arrived.

Overall, the food was plentiful and delicious, the turnout was great, and UT crushed UCF 35-3. Thanks to everyone who came and made the event successful!

mr. mcombs pageant

Each year, McCombs organizations send one representative to compete in a male beauty pageant. The purpose of this event is to raise canned goods for the local food shelter. This competition was evaluated on three different qualities: question and answer, talent, and organizational camaraderie. Representing ABSA was fourth year Finance major, Timothy Tran. Boy, did he do a great job! For his talent, Tim did a skit of Taylor Swift, which was rudely interrupted by "Kanye West," which was our very own President Timothy Lee! All in all, this year's competition was fiercely competitive. Unfortunately, the judges were suffering some sort of illness and did not see the greatness that we know as Tim Tran. Nonetheless, in the hearts of many ABSA members', Tim Tran will always be our Mr. McCombs!

absa/hbsa broomball

On a warm November Sunday, old rivals HBA and ABSA met on the ice to continue the annual broomball game tradition.

With hoods pulled tightly over their ears and jackets zipped, players ran and glided all over the ice in the pursuit of the red ball. Determined to bring home the title, ABSA'ers played with all their strength and until they were out of breath. If they fell, they quickly got up. Some even managed to take off their jackets despite the freezing temperatures.

Both teams were on full alert by the time the third round came along in an effort to break the 1-1 tie. Many times was ABSA really close to scoring the winning goal, but HBA managed to score minutes before the game ended despite ABSA's strong defense. Although ABSA never gave up and fought to the last minute, HBA claimed victory for this year. However, we walked away that rink with our red noses from the cold knowing we've tried our best, and we will definitely come back stronger next year.

thanksgiving potluck

The rich aroma of oven roasted turkey mixed with the savory smell of crunchy Asian egg rolls was more than enough to make my mouth water and my stomach rumble. That must have meant only one thing—the annual ABSA Thanksgiving potluck was here!

The night began with a family 'Fear Factor' competition where each family sent a representative to consume an unknown food from this year's category of Asian sauces and spices. The Asian foods included the famous red hot Sriracha sauce, oyster sauce, smelly shrimp paste, soy sauce, and wasabi. My own family, JST Legendary, tied for first place!

Afterwards, the feast began! We all lined up for the variety of different foods the ABSA families made (or secretly bought) that included turkey stuffing, whipped sweet potatoes, and chocolate cupcakes topped with candy corn. Then, everybody chatted the night away. While everybody had a great time and left with satisfied stomachs, we were thankful for the delicious meal and wonderful company. Happy Thanksgiving ABSA!

What is one modern convenience you could not live without?

My laptop! It's gigantic and heavy and will probably give me back problems, but I love it and carry it everywhere because I have my life and more on it.

What is your concept of a fruitful day?

Waking up before noon, sewing something, cooking something, maybe doing some homework and studying. Yea, I'm a boring old lady on the inside.

If you had a "theme song" that played whenever you walk into a room full of people, what would it be?

Beethoven's 5th Symphony. That would be awesome for that to play every time I walk into a room. Everything I did would be intense and suspenseful.

VOLUNTEERING

keep austin beautiful #2

While some people were recovering from the club party, we who signed up for Keep Austin Beautiful #2 awoke from our “peaceful” slumbers and headed to 30th and Guadalupe.

Everyone arrived cheerfully to start our hour of fun. I know I had fun when I saw the trash picker uppers and immediately started untying unsuspecting peoples’ shoes. We had a good time bonding over picking up wrappers and cigarette butts and placing them strategically in the trash bags held by brave members. We did a thorough job of cleaning up the sidewalks, and even found a sandwich lying on the ground. Some of us hadn’t eaten breakfast yet, so... we split the sandwich. Nah, just kidding, it was just me who ate it. Kidding again, it was disgusting. Of course we threw it in a bag.

We eventually reached the end of our stretch of the road. Immediately after taking the customary picture in front of the KAB sign, we rushed to the nearby dumpster and cast away the shackles of litterdom... Finished with our work and chatting along the way, we walked back to 30th Street with the satisfaction of having helped to keep Austin beautiful.

keep austin beautiful #3

As beautiful a city Austin is, it is not the cleanest. To keep our beautiful city clean, a group of exuberant ABSA members dressed in tennis shoes and work clothes were all ready to clean up Austin on Saturday, November 3, 2009. To maximize our manpower, we divided the group into two and worked to clean either sides of the road. As we walked along the drag, we sported our bright orange picker-upper sticks picking up trash ranging from people’s cigarette butts to people’s unwanted newspapers and etc. To keep our efforts green, we used only two garbage bags; we emptied out the bags into trashcans along the way of our journey.

After a few hours of strenuous, back-bending, hard-work, we finally wrapped up our morning festivities taking pictures at our Asian Business Student Association (they forgot to pluralize our organization) sign. It was a wonderful way of ending such a productive morning. If only ABSA had treated us to some Starbucks, that would’ve definitely made our morning! But it was all good because later that afternoon, many of us headed to the Alumni Watch Party to meet our alumni and let ABSA treat us to some tasty Pie-Guys.

What is one modern convenience you could not live without?

I use the microwave non-stop.

I would get home from school, dig around for a hot pocket, and then nuke it for my afternoon snack.

What is your concept of a fruitful day?

A delicate balance between work and fun. I want to work hard enough that I maximize how much I learn every day but not so hard that I’m tired of learning the next day.

If you had a “theme song” that played whenever you walk into a room full of people, what would it be?

longhorn halloween

Remember when we were little kids, always eager to dress up in our Halloween costumes? Well, it never changes. Halloween weekend is always the best. Little kids decked out in their cutest outfits, trying to mimic the characters they love so much, holding baskets out and looking at you with their giant innocent eyes begging for candy.

Longhorn Halloween is an annual event that's hosted for the children of UT faculty. ABSA's External Branch volunteered at this event and it was so much fun! The game we had was called "BOOsケットball (basketball... get it?)." The point of the game is to shoot the basketball into the hoop. The little kids were adorable! Most of the girls were either some variation of a fairy, a Disney princess, or Hannah Montana. Some of them were too short and needed parental assistant to get the ball into the basket, others simply were not skilled in the art of basketball, but nonetheless everyone had a blast. There were no losers! Everyone won a piece of candy in the end.

This event made me feel warm and bubbly inside. It's always nice to be surrounded by little kids who are genuinely happy. Although it was unexpected, this event was the highlight of my week. Maybe next year you'll be lucky enough to join in the festivities.

starbright preschool halloween carnival

This year, twenty excited ABSA members arrived at Starbright Preschool the day before Halloween, eager to help set up the booths before the children and parents arrived. Walking into the backyard of Starbright, we all felt as if we were transported back into our own preschool years! Seven booths were set up all around the backyard. After splitting up into groups for each booth, we immediately got to work. One group tied apples to a tree for an apple bobbing game, while another group hid little pumpkins underneath the hay for the pumpkin hunt and decorating booths.

Soon the parents and children arrived, and we found ourselves surrounded by children in all sorts of the cutest costumes, from pirates and princesses, to little lions and monkeys. Between breaks, we even got to eat some of the home-cooked food brought by the parents, including some very delicious pumpkin pie!

Before we knew it, three hours had passed, and our fun-filled afternoon at Starbright concluded. As we left Starbright comparing who had the best booths and sharing the cutest costumes we saw, there was one thing we could all agree on. Next year, ABSA will definitely return again to continue this ABSA volunteering tradition!

race for the cure

It was 6 AM on the morning after Halloween night. The sun had still not risen, and the campus streets were almost completely deserted. In front of Littlefield Fountain stood our small group of (sleep-deprived) ABSA volunteers. What had brought us together so early in the morning? The long awaited, highly-anticipated Susan G. Komen Race for the Cure, of course!

The event took place was an experience I will never forget. There were people everywhere dressed in pink t-shirts and pink ribbons and even pink capes! Big white tents were pitched all over the grounds, and music and inspirational speeches flowed down from the speakers.

Our first mission as volunteers was to help with operations. We carried boxes full of bagels to the tents that provided breakfast for those participating in the race. Later, we were asked to do crowd control, which meant we all lined up to create a human wall that would separate the race runners and the race walkers. (This is when we indulged in a few jumping pictures.) We were situated fairly close to finish line, so it was fun to see the joyous faces of the race participants as they realized their goal was in sight.

Volunteering for this event was awesome, and it brought up an interesting idea...maybe next year, ABSA can register to run in the Race For The Cure!

One of the most anticipated events, Shack-A-Thon, was held on Oct. 27 through Oct. 29 this year.

Shack-A-Thon is an annual event organized by Habitat for Humanity to educate the UT community on the state of poverty housing in America and abroad. Student organizations build wooden shacks on the brickyard and stay there for a week. The organizations panhandle passersby's to raise money for Habitat for Humanity in the effort to eliminate poverty housing.

In addition to spreading the awareness of poverty housing, Shack-A-Thon was a great opportunity for ABSA members to bond during the day and overnight. Some ABSA members created a study group in the shack, played board games, and even brought a Wii for the evening entertainment.

Besides from the humidity and coldness, Shack-A-Thon was a fun and exciting experience for most of ABSA members. For those who did not get to participate this year, don't miss out on the opportunity to bond with fellow ABSA members and come out for next year's Shack-

ja in a day

This Friday began before the sun rose with the help of Starbucks, of course. We were up at six, at Littlefield by seven, and with our “kiddos” at eight; I was nervous, nauseous, and excited, respectively. Five hours of business lessons to nine-year olds – what a day! I never imagined teaching fourth-graders about being entrepreneurs. Even now it sounds a bit ridiculous talking about profits and losses to kids who care more about recess than revenue. Natasha and I taught in Ms. Spruce’s fourth-grade class for the day, and we absolutely fell in love with all of the adorable, intelligent kids in our class. The day of teaching was challenging, rewarding, and, most importantly, fun. We were all impressed with the caliber of the students and tried hard to remember if we were able to comprehend such high-level material twelve years ago. All in all, the day was absolutely amazing – we taught, we learned, and we enjoyed every bit of it.

charity dodge ball tournament

On Friday November 20th, ABSA co-sponsored a Charity Dodgeball Tournament with APO and CSA with all proceeds from the event going to Wonders and Worries, a non-profit organization that offers children, whose parent/s suffer from a chronic illness, counseling.

The event was held at the Anna Hiss gym. Although the rain and construction made the gym very difficult to find, the search was well worth it when I saw the great ABSA turnout. ABSA registered two teams, each consisting of five players. The competition was intense. Michael Yang’s team, “Spaghetti with a side of balls-ogna,” played an exciting game with Miguel (I don’t know his last name!) standing as the last player against three opponents. Despite Michael’s tremendous effort and awesome dodging skills, both his team and the other ABSA teams were defeated. However, the event was a great success. ABSA members were found cheering their hearts out on the sidelines as well as playing their best on the courts.

football playoffs

Tension was high and the pressure was on. It was a Wednesday night, but more than thirty ABSA fans came out to cheer our team to victory. We were faced with another undefeated team, Crossroads, and an IM Championship was at stake. Friendly trash-talk bounced back and forth, but everyone had their serious game faces on when the horns blew to signal the beginning of the game. The team took a significant lead in the first half of the game thanks to a spectacular catch by Christina Ma, who ran the ball nearly halfway down the field for a touchdown. Our defense was like an impenetrable wall that prevented Crossroads from scoring on many occasions. Unfortunately, one player managed to finally slip through and brought the final score to 10-9. It was an extremely close game, which made our loss that much more disappointing. However, all the players gave 110% out there and we can keep our heads up knowing that this is not the end. The bonds we formed with each other at practices and during our numerous victories outweigh any physical trophy that can be given to us. At the end of the day, we put our hands together at the center of our circle and our proud voices cry out in unison, "ABSA!"

men's soccer

Another ABSA intramural soccer season had come and gone. Our soccer team played strong and hard through every game sacrificing their blood, sweat, tears, and even a broken bone. Yes, one of our very own indeed sacrificed a fractured wrist while playing ferociously for victory. The broken wrist was felt throughout the entire team, which only was matched by the emotions of the team as we concluded with a heartbreaking season. This was the first year I was able to witness a few games, and our players' sheer passion astonished me. Team captain Vishal Kumar inspired every player with words of wisdom and helped motivate our players to battle their hearts out in every game this year. Although this was a tough IM soccer season for our players, they sure did me and the rest of ABSA proud. Word up footballers, great season! You guys are legit in my book ;)

coed volleyball

ABSA's coed volleyball team finished the season strong. Unfortunately, the team finished with only a loss and did not make the playoff due to a flawed tie-break system. Nevertheless, the team will be a force to reckon with next year.

I watched ABSA dominate VSA from the sideline on November 15, 2009 at the Gregory Gym. The first set was a complete wipeout. The second set was more competitive, but the team still looked to be in command throughout. Monica Nguyen is the one player that stood out. Though she is small in stature compared to other players, she pack a powerful serve and a well controlled game.

Meanwhile, the VSA players greatly outnumbered the ABSA players nearly two to one. This goes to show that quantity is meaningless without quality. Come cheer for ABSA co-ed volleyball team next year. More importantly, come watch the basketball team win another championship next semester!

Nonetheless, everyone played tremendously well this season. Everyone can't wait until next year, when we'll definitely make it all the way.

coed volleyball from another perspective

This year's ABSA Co-ed Volleyball team was a force to be reckoned with out on the IM courts. With a group of enthusiastic and focused members, ABSA was on its way to the IM Playoffs. With new, fresh talent coming from freshmen Jon Wang and Victoria Chiem, we'll be looking at great seasons to come in the future. And we can't forget to mention dedicated players such as Monica Nguyen, Khang Huynh and David Chen.

During the season, we faced-off against the undefeated team in our league. Winning two out of three sets, we prevailed and would take on volleyball masters, VSA. When our match against VSA came around, our crowd was pretty outnumbered since ABSA Broomball was set on the same date. But with awesome players like ours, we won the first two sets and took the victory with us. The team ended their season with a record of 3-1, which was good enough for playoffs. However, there was a three-way tie between two other teams and when it came down to points; ABSA was out of the running.

Terence Ko: this brown bag thing will work :[

Thanh Nguyen: you're so enthusiastic! Join my family! Haha

Thu Doan: more late night excursions!

Tiffany Wang: thanks for being the only girl on ct this semester :] and all the hard work, haha. But mostly for being the only girl.

Tim Lee: hi mr. president.

Timothy Tran: good job at mr. mcombs!

Tovey Xu: let's hang out! :]

Van Dang: thanks for applying to ct ... apply again? Your fish answer was hilarious (I'd only sell males...haha)

Victoria Chiem: let's go to robert's house for food!

Vishal Kumar: we were an awesome duo, no? :] it's fun to sit next to you during iteam meetings, haha ... but probably not conducive to hosting a good meeting...

Vivian Tao: where'd you go? :[

Wenting Xie: congrats on GE!

William Tsai: where've you been? :[

Yao (Jake) Lin: so you didn't reach abercrombie status? And ... we need to go work out sometime :]

Yi (Michelle) Yang: speak up!!! You have such good ideas and a pretty voice. :] and come to family events more!!!

Yuning Ma: welcome back!

Charles lai

Angela Huang, Henry Shih, Michael

Yang, Molly Sun, Stephanie Qin, Thu

Doan, Timothy Lee: We finished our first semester, and despite seeing each other basically every single day, we don't hate each other!

Karen Shih, Eric Tsang, Eugene Hsiao,

Lucy Lu, Patricia Mar: I love you guys.

Thanks so much for all of your hard work.

You are all outstanding directors, and I feel so lucky to have such dedicated directors to work with. Thanks for all of the great memories! Get ready for next semester! It's going to be all you guys. I'm 100% confident y'all will rock it.

Charles Lai

Alice Fang, Annie Li, Brian Li, Crystal Cooper, Jason Jeng, Jeanna Yu, Lucy Lu, Lulu Han, Salem Chuah, Sharon Hsu, Sherry Yang, Stephanie Fang, Stephen He, Terence Ko, Thanh Nguyen: Remember how we were such an active family at the beginning of the year? We'll be like that again next semester! Get ready!

Amanda Sheu, Charing Hung, Grace Ko, Harry Liu, Johnny Lorn, Johnny Shen, Lee Wang, Lucy Lu, Quan Zhang, Sally Zheng, Sandy Duong, and not Wendy Lin: I hate programming... Thanks for making MIS a team effort! Seriously... this is a lot of people... haha.

Angela Huang, Annie Li, Brandon Chang, Candice Shim, Grace Ko, Harry Liu, Hayley Jang, Hyungoo Kang, Jake Lin, Jeanna Yu, Jeffrey Li, Jeffrey Pao, Jessica Li, Ka-Wai To, Keith Chan, Ken Nguyen, Kokilapriya Muthukumar, Lee Wang, Mufeng Zhu, Narin Sead, Olive Hsiao, Robert Huynh, Sharon Hsu, Sherry Yang, Sylvia Sun, Terence Ko, Tiffany Wang, Vishal Kumar: Thanks for competing and representing ABSA in our case competition! I wish y'all had registered earlier though, so we wouldn't have had to stress out about not getting enough teams to sign up... haha.

Andy Wong, Courtney Chen: Let's make sure no home videos leak on the Internet. I don't really want other business organizations getting that impression of ABSA.

Angela Eng: Have fun abroad next semester! We'll miss you!

Angela Huang, Cathy Shen, Courtney Chen, Ken Nguyen: I hope y'all got something awesome during Black Friday! I didn't buy anything.

Cathy Shen, Kim-Long Nguyen, Victoria Chiem: Thanks for the awesome brown bags!
Cody Imamura, Stephen He (and possibly others...): I know we STILL haven't brown bagged. I know y'all hate me. I'm so sorry. I PROMISE we'll do it one day. I feel super guilty. :(

Diana Meng: Last time, I said I was going to come out to 50% of your volunteering events... I think I've done that... right...?

Grace Kim: Thanks for the General Mills goodies!

Hans Malzar: Remember how I was at your birthday? Do you...?

Karen Chen: I'm scared of you. :(

Lee Wang: Thanks for making Mahin feel like a rockstar!

Mercedes Pang: Sorry I wasn't there at the last IM game. :(

Nancy Xie: Serving food even when you're not at GMs? Awesome.

Olive Hsiao: You're losing your title of Mill Lab queen to Wendy...

Patrick Chen: Can I sleep here...?

Peter Nguyen: Sorry it took me so long to put your blurb in my email!

Shara Ma: When are your office hours? I want to hang out in your office!

Sondra Batbold: Suggestive Batgirl. :)

Jocelyn Lee

Andrew Yoon: Wingman, I <3 you! Hope you have fun in NY...maybe I'll come visit :)

Bang Truong: Holdin' it down for the H-Town baby. You and driving do not mix well apparently :(

Bobby Tran: Wow I didn't know you were graduating! How sad...well I'm glad we were able to be officers together like centuries ago. Have fun abroad!

Chang Fu: Wingman number twoooooo (in Boyfriend #2 tune)

Chris Kim: Nice pick during the coed semis game, lol!

Chris Rodgers: I bet you don't miss Van. He clogs toilets.

Cindy Lin: HELLOOOOOO!!!! *picture picture picture picture

Daniel Chao: I love your awesome personality, you always make me laugh!

Daniel Jong: YES intermediate is almost overrrr.

David Chen: you better miss me when I'm in Houston working!! :P

Dorothy Doan: Dorothy! Thanks for being so active in our family...you are so fricken sweet and adorable :). Keep holdin' down the fort for me when I'm in Houston...and bring the family to visit me!!

Dustin Le: Try to get more girls in our family next semester...lol. <3!

Davis Nguyen: Do you miss Van? LOL

Hyun Kang: Yay for getting through one semester of being a director

Jeff Pao: I feel like I should see you around more often too...downtown! Jkjk.

Jenny Sung: I haven't seen you as much around this semester :(Hopefully next semester though!

Jonathan Liu: I totally miss seeing you around in ABSA meetings!!

Julian Maldonado: Hello stranger

Justin Liao: MPA! Get ready to eat lots of delicious food next semester. Remember DELOITTE when you're recruiting!! ;) ;)

Justin Santos: Let's get food next semester if you're going to be in Houston!!

Justin Wang: Why did you Van to play on your B league team? He's not good...Nobody's as good in football as you are!

Kat Chung: You're so sweet! Hopefully I'll see you around more next semester

Michael Yang: Hello Superman! 1/2-way done...great job :)

Michelle Ly: This is because I know you don't get many shoutouts in ABSA informers anymore! I don't either...we're old! *sob. JK! I miss LKF! Haha...not really.

Monica Nguyen: BUBBLE SPINNER!! Lol... one day I will introduce you to a game that you'll become addicted to for a change.

Nook Truong: Thanks for all the help with the family. You are awesome <3

Pil Jeong: Great job with the EOS Video ... and thanks for being so active in the family!

Quan Zhang: Thanks for being so active in the family!!

Randy Santa Ana: Please don't dance on me during ABSA meetings anymore. That's for DT only. LOL.

Raymond Tran: Stop talking about Zethan. It's not funny anymore.

Sarah Yu: I'm sick of the apartment.

Shara Ma: -)

TheKevin Nguyen: I see you more than I see people in Austin. Loves it!

Tiffany Leong: Great job with the Informers!! Sorry I'm a failure at getting in shoutouts on time <3

Tiffany Wang: Tiffany...I feel like I should see you around more...downtown! Haha jk. Get ready to eat lots of food and get fat during recruiting. Remember Deloitte ;)

Tim Lee: Congrats on getting through the first semester! I'm so proud to say I picked you as a director. If I didn't...who knows. You might have left for CSA and never come back :D.

Tim Tran: Still pissed I missed Mr. McCombs...I'm sure you did wonderfully. Are there any videos?!

Van Dang: Hello map! You don't fit a size M for vnecks sorry. It's okay if you're just experimenting with your fashion though... :)

Stephanie Qin

Tim Lee: You don't sleep and I don't understand how. Ridiculous.

Charles Lai: That STA 371 case about CALAMBRA olive oil made me hungry. I actually want to try the recipes they had in the appendix, haha. And no more Korean food for you.

Molly Sun: Mian Hua...I really want to meet her! It's like she's a celebrity because you talk about her so much and nobody ever sees her.

Michael Yang: Spaghetti with a side of ballsagna...I just cracked up when I saw that team name in the dodgeball registration. I didn't expect anything less of you ;)

Angela Huang: I thought you did an amazing job with alumni weekend =) I enjoyed the food at pie guys...yum!

Thu Doan: I promise to go to more of your events next semester when I (hopefully) won't have class in the evenings. I'm glad you're staying at UT <3 =)

Henry Shi: I think you live in the mill lab haha. And btw you like the twilight series and hannah montana? HAHHAHA. And you were in a complicated relationship with Eugene? Good times. Let's sing some more! =)

External Branch: External love <3!!! Thank you for all of your hard work this semester! I'm really looking forward to next semester when I can see you each take a lead in External's various big events!

Angela Eng: Thank you for all of your help this semester! You were super on top of everything with broomball! I'll miss youuuu =(

Cathy Shen: Super cousin and super director. What would I do without you? Let's continue our weekly lunches next semester!

Cody Imamura: I can't wait to see what you and Kristen come up with for Faculty Appreciation Week next semester! It's going to be great! =)

Diana Meng: Awesome job this semester coordinating volunteering events! I can't wait to go to some of the new events you have in mind, like healing origami!

Jose Chavana: Branch outing for Dim Sum next semester! Yum!

Kristen Baldwin: No more Friday morning meetings for dodgeball yay! Thanks for making an ABSA dodgeball team =)

Raymond Tran: Man of few words. Thanks for being so dependable, and for making another dodgeball team!

Amanda Sheu: Dodgeball is overrrrr!!! (you can tell when I wrote this lol) But I'm really glad we cohosted it together! Good experience =)

Andy Wong: Funny EOS promo video. And good job with bake sale!

Angela Douangkesone: You make me want to learn ballroom dancing

Annie Li: Where are you?

Bobby Tran: Merry Christmas and Happy Holidays! I'm sad you're graduating =( Brenda Tran: You're such a sweet girl! =)

Brendan Chan: You are ridiculous...ly awesome! I just cracked up during the family event when you were dancing with a subtle gross face.

Brian Li: You're beast at case comp! You think of solutions that never would have ever crossed my mind.

Candice Shim: I hope you're feeling better... go to broomball next year! =)

Chang Fu: Thanks for playing dodgeball! =)

Cindy Khuu: Great job with the Swirl fundraiser! I always think of you and your promotional project when I think of Swirl

Cindy Lin: You were gorgeous as Tim's escort during Mr McCombs! Thank you for also representing ABSA =)

Connie Han: Remember dinner after the IM volleyball game where we gave each other pokemon names? Good times.

Courtney Chen: Fabulous job with baking and the EOS promo video, as always =) Daniel Cai: I enjoyed our brown bag! Come out to more ABSA events =)

Daniel Chao: Hope Scoring Careers committee is going well!

Daniel Jong: Sleeping in the AIM again? Those couches actually look really comfy...

David Chen: Your mashed potatoes at Thanksgiving potluck were GOOD! Recipe please? =) Dustin Le: I'm sad we're not in the same family this year, but it's okay because we're HALF&HALF 4EVA! =) Emily Lai: I enjoyed having our brown bag finally! And now I'm all caught up! =)

Eric Tsang: FML all the time in ACC 356. The funniest parts are watching the whole back row sleep. And making sure you're awake. Haha.

Eugene Hsiao: You and your 20 million vests. Actually made that 19,999,999. You need 1 more =) And you were awesome during shack a thon--a truly dedicated director!

Faye Wang: I hope you're feeling better about MPA!

Frank Yang: Hope you had a good workout before thanksgiving!

G-mo: I'm glad you played in dodge for a cause!

Grace Kim: Yay for working on Donation Creation together! I'm excited--hopefully everything works out in time!

Grace Ko: Looking forward to San Francisco CFT next semester!!!

Hans Malzar: Given any tours recently?

Hyun Kang: No more cutting of my budget, or you'll have to pay to volunteer! ;D

Imran Jivani: ETS lab teacher! That place is really neat! When I was a freshman, I really wanted to see what was inside, but now I know!

Jan Ma: My stomach is looking forward to FYM.

Jason Petlueng: That's so cool that you grew up in New Zealand and Laos! I'm looking forward to getting to know you better this year! =)

Jeanna Yu: Remember that day after Star-bright volunteering when we bumped into you afterwards and had dinner together at tap house? That was nice.

Jeff Pao: Thanks for playing dodgeball! =)

Jeff Zhao: I'm glad we had our brown bag together. I hope CMS is getting better, especially with those nit picky m/c tests.

John Terada: Crazy dancer in our family--thank goodness! You saved our family! =) And you're really funny! I didn't realize it until we played apples to apples together.

Johnny Lorn: I wish I was as talented as you with baking cupcakes and decorating them. They're too pretty to eat. But I'm a fatty so I end up eating them anyway.

Justin Liao: Thanks for playing dodgeball!

Karen Chen: Great job with Dallas CFT!

Karen Shih: Hope you had fun volunteering at the Starbright Preschool carnival!

Ka-Wai To: It was great getting our brown bag together! I didn't know you lived in East!

Keith Chan: When is your leg going to get better?

Ken Nguyen: You're everywhere! I feel like everytime I turn around, I see you.

Kim Do: You did a great job at Longhorn Halloween! So kid friendly!

Lee Wang: Hello!

Lena Quach: Good times this semester working on Donation Creation...I don't think you understand how sad I am that you're not going to be here next semester to see it happen

Linda Nguyen: SNL reunion was wonderful! And you're a great cook! Everything was so yummy! Plus, your travels = amazing to say the least.

Louise Ho: Can't wait for Academic branch's FYM!

Lucy Lu: Your time calling at case comp was hilarious. "Time's up, no more questions. NO MORE QUESTIONS!" LoL. Btw I want my tiramisu!

Mark Wu: We're the most literal people ever in apples to apples haha. Let's dominate next time around!

Max Ma: ABSA + CSA event next semester! Let's do something!

Mercedes Pang: It was lovely Ice-skating with you during alumni weekend!

Michelle Ly: Our conversation at Rudy's made me feel more confident about MPA. Thank you!

Miguel Vicente: Sorry I forgot your name so many times! But I'm so glad that you played in Dodge for a Cause! =) You were beast!

Monica Nguyen: 4th year MPA sounds pretty darn busy. Ahhhh! Get some rest over winter break! =)

Nancy Xie: Always on top of your stuff! Great job!

Nathan Chen: Awesome job media director! The foggy broomball pics are a nice effect.

Olive Hsiao: Where did you go? I don't see you very much =(

Patricia Mar: It was lovely getting lunch together! Great job so far in exec branch!

Patrick Chen: You crazy dancer. Stop threatening to cut my budget!

Peter Nguyen: Silly-single-ladies-dancing-ghost! You're so funny =)

Pil Jeong: Your hair is so fluffy and it reminds me of John Terada's haha

Quan Zhang: Thanks for coming out to Dodge for a Cause after your Wushu practice!

Robert Huynh: How's consulting team going for ya?

Sally Zheng: I always see you sitting on a bench outside the bschool

Sandy Duong: The baking queen! You've inspired me to try baking various things over winter break haha. Let's see if I'll actually try and make something.

Shalin Dalal: My new friend from PducB case comp! You're so nice!

Shara Ma: Nice job with family fear factor! The food was pretty intense!

Sherry Yang: I hope you got all the classes you wanted for next semester even though you registered late!

Sondra Batbold: You're an IM volleyball champ!

Stephanie Fang: You've gone home every time I see you on a Friday haha! How are you liking UBC?

Steven Wang: From Cali--have you gotten used to Texas weather yet?

Terence Ko: Congratulations to you and the PokeMasters! You dominated your bracket and were totally baller out there =) Thanh Nguyen: THANH!!! I can always count on you to be happy no matter what! You're all smiles all the time =)

Tiffany Leong: I love the Informer and all yall's hard work!

Tiffany Wang: Congrats on Disney Corporate Tax! That's awesome! =)

Tim Tran: I don't know how many times I can thank you for being Mr McCombs, but I really appreciate you representing ABSA. You did an awesome job at the pageant. Plus, I love Taylor Swift = double points! =)

Tuo Li: Mr McCombs next year ;)

Victoria Chiem: Ice skating was fun with you! I want to learn how to backwards skate better!

Vivian Gao: You have pretttyyy long hair

Wendy Lin: Super fantastic ridonkulously awesome job with case comp! =)

stephanie qin

Will Tsai: Shout out to my awesome big sib! Thanks for letting us try your South African juice at Whole Foods!

William Chang: Where did you go? Also, you changed your facebook name from Fresh Prince to just William Chang!

Yuning Ma: Yay Two Chicks and a Stick! Let's karaoke for our next family event!

linda nguyen

Bobby Tran: Bright fame, life coach, favorite person in the world...whatever I happen to you call you for the day, I will really miss seeing you around. Congratulations, good luck, and I'll see you soon :) Oh yeah, let's do second Euro trip, it'll be RIDICULOUS.

Imran Jivani: Graduating and going on exchange – you're gonna have so much fun! I'm really really jealous! Travel, party, and just have a wonderful time! My exchange rule was to never turn down an invitation (use some common sense... some). Take lots of pictures, meet lots of people, and make the most of every opportunity :)

Julian Maldonado: It'll be weird not seeing you around campus, in class, and on sixth! Good luck in Minnesota :) Enjoy the beautiful lakes! Check out Uptown Minneapolis (Calhoun Square Area), Mall of America, and Wisconsin Dells when you can no longer bear that Minnesota "heat." Good luck and Congrats!!

Michal Yang: One more semester... let's figure out a way to stop time so we can stay here for just a bit more.

Yuning Ma: Please stop staring at my no-no's.

Will Tsai: Are we gonna have a repeat of your birthday on my birthday (June 5)? Not sure if I'll still be around, but we can celebrate early. Can't believe we're graduating >.< But I'm pretty sure we'll still be texting buddies during games!

Tina Bui: DANNNNNG TINNAAAA!!!

Stephanie Qin: SNL reunion part 2 – let's make it happen.

Two Chicks & a Stick: I love you guys :) Get ready to go skydiving next semester!! I'm only half-kidding.

tiffany wang

Ankit Gupta: "Oh no! Oh no! Oh no! ... Oh yeah!" :) Let's have HIMYM marathons in the Reliant!

Anthony Dang: What was the name of your grocery store in Tennessee again? :P We must hit up more concerts in Austin!

Bobby Tran: No one will be around to call me a slacker now that you're leaving :(Have fun abroad and don't forget to stay in one of those capsule hotels for me!

Brenden Chan: I always run into you in the business school but never at family events. I'll try to be more active!

Daniel Jong: I still owe you that bag of trail mix!

Eugene Hsiao: Have a vest-tastic day! Let's grab lunch at the egg roll stand sometime! :)

Grace Kim: I promise I will be home one of these days so my apartment will be open and free for family use!

Hans Malzar: I'll miss having 356 with you! (Though I must say, I won't miss the class itself at all). When can I cash in that raincheck for a ride to Haiky? :)

Jay Lee: Shaved Ice + Bowling sometime?

Jeffrey Pao: Still on the hunt for that conflict-free diamond for your fiancé? :) Hope your battle scar remains vibrant forever!

Jessica Chen: I haven't run into you at a grocery store for a while :(

Jocelyn Lee: Have fun during your internship next semester! I'll keep Deloitte in mind when I recruit!

John Terada: Impeccable stalker skills ;) We must watch Legally Blonde sometime and take notes!

Johnny Lorn: Baking master, we should try making panda cupcakes!

Jonathan Fong: Guitars! Soon! For real this time!

Julian Maldonado: Mr. McCombs! Honey butter chicken biscuits, DT, & our family won't be the same without you! :(P.S. – Please come back and visit often because you still owe me a guitar hero jam session!

Justin Liao: You really should stop making bets with me. I can only eat so many pizza rolls every Tuesday :P

Justin Santos: Remember Main Event? Paintball? Cupcake/brownie baking? Chicago? Being Co-bigs of MJT? Karaoke? 80s roller-skating? Those were good times. "Peace out, girl scout!" :) I'll miss you, buddy!

Karen Shih: Words alone cannot express my love for you :) Let's eat at more Austin-y food trailers!

Kevin Cui: Let's go for a ride! :)

Khang Huynh: Let's study in the PCL and listen to Debussy. Guaranteed A's on our finals for sure!

Lance Li: The only time I ever run into you now is in the Mil Lab :(Let's schedule a Frisbee playing, Food making, Wii gaming bonanza!

Lee Wang: "I discovered something Amazing!" You've revolutionized wing-eating for me!

Linda Nguyen: Lovely Linda! When are we going to have our Whole Foods/FB date?

Manuel Geronimo: TMNT! Let's cook together, neighbor!

Mark Wu: We study together and you still make better grades than me :(

Michael Yang: My dear gatekeeper! :) This marks the beginning of our last semester together. Let's make sure to stuff our faces, make many trips to 6th, and win Best Family of the Year for the 3rd year before you graduate!

Nathan Chang: I know just your type. Yueda, yuehei, yuepiaoliang!

Timothy Lee: We're officially halfway through our college career! 2.5 years to go :)

Van Dang: Why have you disappeared off the face of the earth? Catch up over bratwurst?

Wendy Lin: Egg tarts & Milk tea! Have you been working on your bowling skills?

Yuning Ma: Did you know people are more inclined to talk to you when you have a cute outfit on? :P Thanks for all your MPA/SAB advice! <3

cathy shen

Amanda Nguyendon: You're so cute! I love how you always smile. It really brightens up my day.

Angela Eng: Thanks for driving us around all the time when we have volunteer events! Every time I hear Justin Bieber I think of you, haha.

Candice Shim: I'm really sorry I left your family :) You're still my favorite person named Candice!

Charles Lai: Thanks for taking me to eat at the Bogogi burger place. It's so delish and I've taken my friends there a few times too!

Cindy Kuu: You always keep your family in your mind. Thanks for being such a good person and walking me home that one night with Randy. Also, your eye makeup looks super cool!

Cindy Lin: Your scrapbook pages looked a million times better than mine! I'm jealous. :P

Cody Imamura: It's funny that you reminded me of my UGS quiz without saying anything. Thanks because without you I'd probably be failing that class due to my non-quiz doing. Also, since you live close to me we should go to Yogurtland sometime over winter.

Connie Han: Thanks for giving me bubble tea! Sorry I tried stealing your customers, haha. You're so fun to be with! I'm so glad I got to know you better through tent bonding.

Daniel Jong: I'm sorry I kept getting your name wrong Dustin, I mean Justin, I mean Daniel :P I really did remember you were in the car with me at broomball! I hope you enjoyed your nap in the AIM reading room.

Diana Meng: You are seriously the best volunteer (and only one) director I know! You're also so funny and sweet. Thanks for answering questions about Chinese class even though I asked a million times. Oh, and also your room is so cute! I love it.

Dorothy Doan: I'm glad I met you through that one TA session in the beginning of the year and also through those rush events, haha. You're such a sweetheart!

Emily Kong: So, despite our ups and downs I'm really glad that we're good friends now. Thanks for going to Tap House and crazy bus adventures with me. The Proposal is a good movie and David, I mean Jason, I mean David's room is messy :P

Eric Tsang: I still remember that story you told us about how you were trying to avoid Michael by walking down the stairs cause he was waiting for you at the elevator.

Eugene Hsiao: Boy! I'm so happy that we're good with each other! I'm sorry that we got off at a bad start but I'm glad we're friends now <3

Grace Kim: Hello Grace with 3 m's at the end of your e-mail. You're such a caring person and you're super good at guitar too! I'm looking forward to working with you in the future for Donation Creation.

Grace Ko: I remember when I first met you I couldn't remember your name cause it was during that directors retreat, haha. You always dress so nicely and you have a really cute smile (not in a creepy way of course!) I'm really glad I met you this year.

Henry Shi: I can't believe you forgot that I was your brown bag buddy): I really enjoyed that waffle you made! It was extra delish and you're such an interesting person to talk to.

Hyun Kang: I'm sorry I keep calling you Hyung! You're fun to talk to! I can't believe you want to get a new phone cause the iPhone is seriously the best phone ever, hehe.

Jason Jeng: Thank you for walking back with me whenever it's dark, haha. We really need to eat lunch together sometime since we live pretty close to each other.

Jeff Wang: I really liked your sumo wrestler speech you gave. It makes me never want to sleep after I eat again because then I'll get fat.

Jennifer Thai: Thank you so much for taking my shift at Longhorn Halloween! I still didn't do well on my exam but at least the review made me do better than what I would of done originally.

Jon Wang: I still think that the Mavericks are better than the Rockets, but that's just cause I'm from Dallas, haha.

Jose Chabana: Your band is pretty good! You're a pretty funny person to be with. I'm glad that we're on the same branch buddy!

Ka-Wai To: You are ridiculous. That is all. Haha, just kidding. I really enjoyed tabling with you and I want to thank you for always carrying the table back to the business school! I hope it wasn't too heavy for you :P

Keith Chan: Oh you poor crippled soul. I still see you everywhere though! Thank you for making me laugh and keeping me distracted when I'm trying to study for economics. Also, that Asian gum you gave me was ridiculously spicy!

Ken Nguyen: Hey ABSA member of the month. You're so silly and I really enjoy being in your presence! The only reason why I like you is because of the shirt you wore the first time I met you... Haha, just kidding! You're just an awesome person (:

Kristen Baldwin: I'm so glad I met you that one night I was doing calculus. You're one of my better friends and I hope I'll see you a lot next year too. We never get to hang out though! Seriously, we need to go grab a bowl of pho together!

Lee Wang: I'm really sorry I poured water on you for assassins! I just really wanted to win. I just realized that I always see you at the Millennium Lab...

Lucy Wu: You're such a fun person to be with! I won't forget the "Never Did I Ever" games we played in the tent!

Matthew Chang: First off, you have a really cool car! It reminds me of my friends' car. Secondly, I'm so excited that you actually listen to Stars! I listened to On Peak Hill when I went home and I like that song now too!

Michael Yang: I thought that your performance during assassins was astonishing! You're such a charismatic and sporty person. I'm glad that I met you this year (:

Michelle Ly: Big Sib! You're such a caring and fun person to be around. You defiantly look out for your little's. You're a really good role model and I'm glad I'm in your family.

Molly Sun: I really want to see your bunny for real cause you always talk about it. Such a cute name too! You're such a nice person Molly! Every time I'm around you I can't help but smile.

Nancy Xie: You're such a good professional director! Congrats on getting director of the month! You really deserve it cause you work so hard.

Nathan Chen: Thank you so much for playing on our dodegball team on such short notice! Sorry I suck at dodegball, haha.

Patrick Chen: Your performance during the family event was astonishing. Thanks for keeping ABSA a fun-filled environment.

Pil Jeong: Silly Pil. That is all. Haha, just kidding! You're so mean to me! Don't deny it (: I love studying with you cause you make me laugh all the time. You're so smart and you're my favorite person named Phil (:

Randy Santa Ana: Big Sib! I really enjoy our family events. I really hope your shoulder gets better soon! We missed you on Dodgeball team):

Raymond Tran: Hey Raymond [sticks out hand] haha. You're such a fun director to work with! I really hope our charity event in April turns out well. Also, sorry Kristen and I are so mean to you :P

Salem Chua: Salem... you have too many tests on ABSA meeting days. True story. Haha, well, when you're finally done with tests we should go get some Tapioca again like the first few weeks of school.

Sondra Batbold: The only Mongolian person I know! You're so super awesome and I'm so gald you came to UT instead of some school up north. You're so silly and fun to be around. We should go grab dinner before ABSA more often!

Stephanie Qin: Ew, who are you? Haha, just kidding! I'm so super duper excited that we go to the same school. It's so nice to have such a smart, talented, beautiful person to look up to! You're also really helpful and such a good support system. I hope we continue to have our Friday lunches next semester!

Terence Ko: TKO! Did you like the song I sent you, haha. You're fantastic! I'm really glad I got to meet you cause we share the same interests such as DCI, some music, and Facebook, haha. Congrats on becoming an OA! You'll be amazing at it. Oh, and also, thank you for saving my pictures! I would have been super sad if they were gone.

Thu Doan: You make really good pomegranate cup cakes! Also, you are so fashionable! I always like looking at the outfits you wear (:

Tim Lee: Mr. President! I really enjoyed your Kanye impersonation during Mr. McCombs. I didn't know you were so versatile and was so good at rapping :D I'm glad you're the president cause I can't imagine anyone else doing a better job than you.

Tim Tran: Mr. McCombs! Your performance was quite entertaining. You're such a nice person and you really care about everyone. I'll miss you when you leave next year.

Tracy Wing: The first time I met you, you were wearing the same plaid shirt I owned cause we both worked at Hollister, haha. I'm really gald I got to know you! You're so cute and you're super friendly too.

Victoria Chiem: Victoria! Your hair is so pretty! I wish I knew how to make my hair wavy like yours. Me, you, and Jenn should really go to Mellow Mushroom sometime again and get pizza at like 9PM! That was a lot of fun! You're really fun to be with cause your personality is just amazing (:

michael yang

Officers: Dam we've spent a lot of time together, A LOT of time. But you know what, I've enjoyed my time with each and every one of you so far. You guys are all unique in your own way and I think that's what makes us tick. Great working with you guys! My only request for next semester: Bring more food to OM's =D

Internal Branch: The semester is already over! Well I just wanted to let you guys know that you guys have done a crazy awesome job this year. You guys are not only my directors, but some of my closest friends in ABSA. I hope this semester was as fun and great for you guys as it was for me. Be on the lookout for more branch socials next year!

Best Family EVER: As our name states, you guys are the BEST FAMILY EVER! I hope you guys have had a fun time cooking with us, eating yogurt and just acting a fool in family events! I love each and every one of ya'll, keep up the activeness for next semester, we need every one of ya!

Amanda Sheu: I need to be at the mill lab more...bring snacks ;)

Andrew Yoon: *Sniff, sniff. What's that I smell, an IM Softball championship. I've been deprived of any shirts this year so I'm making this a personal mission for bball and softball to win some shirts.

Andy Wong: Wanna make some home movies while a ghost does the jungle boogie? I do. Hope you had fun making the video sonnn.

Angela Eng: You're going to be gone my last semester! =(I hope you have fun and thanks for being an awesome little sib this year, even though all you do is eat. Haha. Try not to bake too many cupcakes abroad!

Angela Huang: I still don't get why you asked for my pant size...I better not get a thong or something =/

Anthony Kwan: Take me on a ride on your bike...no homo. lol

michael yang

Bobby Tran: Although there's a SLIM chance you'll actually read this again, I just want to say WTFFFF am I going to do with our Cheers crew. I mean honestly, me and Gmo can't CHACK everyone. I still had fun this year learning how to chack from the best of em, I hope you have the time of your life abroad man. Don't ever forget your El Paso Chacker. FFFFFFFF Yeah BOBBY!

Brendan Chan: Quit debate, we need more backup at Family events! Lol. I'm glad to have met you this year, you've definitely been able to lighten up my spirits and make me crack up. Vamanos los Reese's/ABSA next semester!

Candice Shim: Hope you're still enjoying being a Big Sib!

Cathy Shen: Sorry for sucking at Dodgeball, an ABSA should've won it all =/

Chang Fu: 3 words: IM BASKETBALL CHAMPIONSHIPS.

Charing Hung: We REALLY need to enjoy our last semester, ya dig?

Charles Lai: I look forward to pointing out more of Molly's awkward interpretations/spellings next semester with you ;)

Chris Kim: Congrats on winning an IM co-ed shirt, but now it's time to win ANOTHER basketball ship together...be ready son!

Christina Ma: Christina Ma!!! I'm sorry we couldn't win an IM shirt together, but you more than did your part this year. You a BEAST!

Christine Lew: You've like disappeared! We need to hang out more often!

Cindy Khuu: You need to stop that laughing/giggling during our next EOS video...it makes me laugh. Haha. I've had a great time working with you this year, way to come up with some great ideas!

Cindy Lin: I always knew Tim like driving Acuras. Hehe. Thanks for almost helping me carry out that kill in the Mill lab.

Courtney Chen: Chackasaurus-Rex! As much as it hurts to admit it, I've had a fun time with you this semester. Mostly because I eat your baked goods/bratwurst. Hehe. Thanks for being awesome this past semester, I only have one semester left so make it Chackney-tastic! Btw, QUIT SLEEPING SO MUCH =/

Crystal Cooper: I do have your signature on paper that you will play ball with us this semester. Don't worry, I guarantee you an IM ship!

David Chen: I will own you in Fantasy Basketball when it's all said and done. We got 1 semester left, go work on that swing for IM softball already.

Derrick Shich: Not only an im championship, but IM CHAMPIONSHIPSSSS. Plural.

Diana Meng: Great job as a director this year! Hope you don't miss Canada too much!

Dorothy Doan: Van = Fruity. I hope you don't like fruit too much...

Dustin Le: See you downtown man, more drinks = more fun!

Emily Hong: Glad to hear you're still alive, way till ABSA goes Greek next semester! Lol

Emily Jew: Great soccer season ma'am!

Emily Lai: We can call that 'slap' night a bonding memory.

Erica Liang: Pay meeeee my $7! One more season left of IM sports with you, please don't choke like you normally do in life. hehe

Eric Tsang: Props on Assassins man, the showdown was epic!

Eugene Hsiao: Hope this semester has shown you that I'm not an intimidating figure, but rather a dorky one.

Frank Yang: Last semester mannnn, it's scary but we gotta enjoy it!

Grace Kim: Dongsang! I'm pretty damn happy to see you around a lot more this semester, thanks for being a great big sib (when you're not singing 24/7) and an awesome director, you bring too many laughs into my life. Thanks for all the memories and I'm excited to work and play with you my last semester EVER!!! I promise I will limit the scaring too. hehe

Gmo: It's you and me and Vinny at Cheers next semester, time to bust out the Gold and show some broads how to really drink. Thanks for being one of my favorite and closest midangs this year, my last semester wouldn't be the same with out you. Btw, I owe you a night of 25 drinks sirrrrrr ;)

Hans Malzar: Whenever people call about recruiting questions, I always give them your email address. My bad. lol

Henry Shi: Love cracking jokes and making fun of awkward moments together with you.

Jacklyn Dang: AMA's next president??? It could happen for you! lol

Jan Ma: My last semester, nooooo! We need to have more Riverside hang outs before I go, we live like 2 mins away from each other!

Janie Kim: Little sib, thanks for being awesome this year! I hope your classes are ok and I'll be there for more advising next time! Props for being brave during Paranormal Activity!

Jeffrey Pao: IM Championsssss...AGAIN!

Jin Guo: Last semester of being your wife beater is here =(...now make me some food woman! lol

Joanna Chou: Your bf #1 does resemble that female somewhat. lol

Jocelyn Lee: Hope you don't miss IM basketball season completely next semester! Have fun at your internship!

John Terada: You missed out on Columbian food, we will have it again soon!

Josh Chong: You got some crazy dance moves son, you need to teach me how to work that magic.

Justin Wang: FIN was fun...when I was awake. lol

Justin Liao: Aren't you excited you get to watch someone else do Top Model next semester??? Thanks for being an awesome director this year and being on top of things. Keep those bazookas in check though. haha

Julian Maldonado: Too much to say to you in this shout out (many of which would be censored btw.). Congrats again on Minneyhomie, I wouldn't be happier with anyone else in this world. We gonna tear it up sir, and maybe might that get Mel Gibson "What women want" treatment ;)

Ka-WaiTo: #1 Assassin, watch out!

Karen Chen: Where have you been at fam events??? Did the haunted house scare you too much??? Lol. Thanks for being an awesome lil sib regardless!

Karen Shih: One more semester for me, maybe you might get to see more late night dancing in my last semester. Hahajk

Ken Nguyen: Congrats ABSA M.O.M.

Kevin Tang: Maybe we can have a real brownbag next semester. lol

Kim Phung: Thanks for keeping me A-W-A-K-E in FIN sometimes. lol

Kristen Baldwin: You're a straight baller, can't wait till softball next year! Good job at broomball. We're gonna rock it in basketball and softball! Be ready!

Lance Li: Tina thinks you're cute.

Linda Nguyen: Last semester to hang out and eat as many Austiny things as possible... get ready fool.

Lisa Ren: Where have you been Miss El Pasoooo! I better see you out more next semester!

Lucy Lu: You still have the coolest name in ABSA ;)

Mark Wu: Sorry AGAIN I'm turning in this thing late, shout out to you!

Marya Sokha: Sorry to Pwn you in Assassins! ;)

Mercedes Pang: What is up!?

Michael Yang: I'm shouting out to myself AGAIN, let's see how many people read this...

Michelle Ly: Hope that rumor about you that night isn't true...jk

Miguel Vicente: Good stuff at Dodgeball, maybe next semester man!

Molly Sun: It's fun working with you and your fob...I mean your fun sense of humor!

Monica Nguyen: Awesome job at volleyball, you played solid! Sorry we didn't make it to playoffs =(

Nathan Chang: Sick soccer skills yo, good season bro

Patricia Mar: Where have you been Little sib??? I only see you at AMA meetings =/

Peter Kim: Get our high tops ready for next semester, hopefully this time you'll be winning an IM tshirt with me ;)

Peter Nguyen: Dear Mr. Ghost, you will always on live on in my mind as a single lady with that dance. Haha. Thanks for helping out! SharaMa: Thanks for being awesomest Family Director this year! I've had fun, I want to have more socials that everyone will be up for. At least Halloween is over with ;)

Sondra Batbold: I am not a camera whore... well kinda. ;)

Stephanie Qin: Sorry I couldn't do better in Dodgeball. =/ It was still fun though!

Thanh Nguyen: You're so active in ABSA, I <3 it! Miss #1 saleswoman!

Thu Doan: First in line at FYM for Chipotle please! Lol. I'm so glad you're staying!

Tiffany Kuo: You're still so FAIL...but I still <3 (for sharing your IB notes with me ;))

Tiffany Wang: More 21st outings, I haven't seen you out in forever! I'm kidnapping you =D

Tim Lee: Youz a bobble head ;) Good job this semester mister presidente!

Timothy Tran: I'm glad you did Mr. McCombs, hope you had fun homie! At least we know we're not going to be jobless, whoop!

Tina Bui: You're such a trick...but I still <3 you fool.

Van Dang: Fat. Lose some weight please. K Thanks. Yes more weight.

Victoria Chiem: Thanks for being an awesome director/lil sib this year! I hope you're having fun in ABSA because I really want you to have fun. See I didn't use REEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEELY this time! Loljk Yuning Ma: MAster, you and Linda need to find a new exotic food location ;)

angela huang

Tim Lee: Yay we're done with stats!!! It was awesome working on the panel with you this semester, looking forward to next year!

Charles Lai: It was funny seeing you at Charlotte Russe on Black Friday! You're such a super sweet older brother [: Too bad we didn't get to crash at our places for CFT, but there's always next time!

Molly Sun: You should totally bring Mian Hua to OM sometime, she seems so cute, I want to meet her!

Michael Yang: Looove hanging out with you cause you're hilarious! We should make Oreos truffles again next time, but buy extra Oreos cause you'll probably eat half of them :-)

Stephanie Qin: Hey girl! It's been great working with you this year! Enjoy the holidays [:

Thu Doan: Thanks for bringing us Starbucks and cool goodies all the time! I'm glad to be working with you again next semester!

Henry Shi: Stop being such a playa :P Have fun in Singapore! Bring me back something neat :D

Amanda Sheu: mmmmmm someone's gonna be going crazy now that she's 21... <3

Andy Wong: We still gotta cook sometime!

Angela Eng: Have fun in Denmark next semester!!! I'll miss you !)

Brandon Chang: Thanks for helping us out (food and drink wise) during case comp! But you and Olive need to stop beating each other up, I don't think that's very healthy for either one of yall [:

Bobby Tran: Have fun

Calvin Yang: Hope you're less busy next semester! Thanks for housing all of our t-shirts at your place :D

Cathy Shen: Got any good Black Friday shopping in? lol we should totally hang out over break since we live so close [:

Chang Fu: Mmmm... I'm waiting on that pumpkin cheesecake :D

Chang Fu: Dude I'm so sorry about gchatting you as Angela
Ken Nguyen: You're always in Reliant. Good boy.
Cathy Shen: Great job at broomball!
Nathan Chen: Come to class please
Ka Wai-To: Don't turn into Henry.
Raymond Tran: I can't believe you left our family
Pil Jeong: Don't join the Korean Army!
Sondra Batbold: Thanks for all the hard work!
Jeffrey Li: We blew that last round of mafia in Dallas =(
Patrick Chen: Thank you for letting us use your house! And borrow clothes!
Karen Chen: Charles is the mafia! SERIOUSLY

Justin Wang: Nice haircut. You'll have job offers in no time.

Sherry Yang: Visit Houston sometime! You'll get to see a real Chinatown.

Frank Yang: I heard you're going to take Intermediate Ballroom?

Connie Han: Thanks for all your hard work on Informer and badgering me!

Tim Tran: You will always be my Mr. McCombs

Tuo Li: You are a master chef.

Cindy Khuu: Your puppy chow helped me stay awake in class. Thanks!

Michelle Yang: Hope you liked Dallas CFT!

Manuel Geronimo: You should PRO workshops in accounting

Sandy Duong: Airplane mode haha

Candice Shim: Hope you liked the Name that Member!

Robert Huynh: Hi Robbie

Dustin Le: Your car smells like crayon.

Vishal Kumar: I hope you didn't trash your house this Thanksgiving break.

John Terada: JT!

Jose Chavana: Great D at Broomball!

Jan Ma: Great job on FYM this year!

Van Dang: You're going to be the future of our basketball program.

Olive Hsiao: Thanks for the case! I hope my $1 helped cover copyright expenses.

Sinya Chang: I hope Thu's family is treating you well!

Tiffany Wang: I've run out of shout outs to you. Sorry

Jennifer Thai: Come out to more events

Lee Wang: I see you reading WSJ all the time

Cindy Lin: Congrats!

Andy Wong: MPA is actually a good program.

Victoria Chiem: Great job this semester!

Shara Ma: Thanks for not making family event too gross =D

Hans Malzar: Great job on I-team

Brandon Chang: Hope Hallman's class isn't destroying you

Stephanie Fang: Happy Holidays Fangy!

Sylvia Sun: What will you take after STA371?

Julian Maldonado: Good luck Julian! Don't forget about us!

Sharon Hsu: Still happy about pre-med after this semester?

Daniel Jong: The Reading Room is for studying. Not sleeping.

Vivian Gao: I hear you are moving back on campus =O

Anthony Cheung: Thanks for the cake on the face. Not!

Jon Fong: I need a new place for next year. Lantern is too expensive...

Tiffany Leong: That abracadabra whatever song is ehhhh

Keith Chan: Be all healed for next semester! Brian Li: Everybody walking on those stairs can see you.

Mark Wu: Sorry this is late once again but... Happy Holidays!

Johnny Lorn: "Your breath is my gift..." hahahah

Bobby Tran: Good luck, Bobby! I'll always remember you as External VP

Monica Nguyen: I don't see you anymore

Quan Zhang: Thanks for taking one for the family!

Daniel Chao: Work hard Daniel Chao

Amanda Sheu: Ni ming nian hai yao shang zhong wen ma?

Andrew Yoon: All the new people have heard of you, but nobody has seen you =(

Nathan Chang: Ladies' man

Parry Ying: I won't be at Career Services next semester!

Imran Jivani: How about I go to HK and you stay here? Be sure to visit us when you get back!

Brendan Chan: I really hope you get PCA, which you will of course.

Kevin Cui: Stop spending money on "OG" stuff

Annie Li: Hope you got back onto OCR

Lance Li: Have fun in China, Lance!

Khanh Vu: Your family is crazy active

Seniors: Thank you for all that you have given to ABSA throughout your time here.

Good luck in your future endeavors and visit us often! (Be sure to email Angela and make sure you are on the Alumni Listserv)

ABSA: Have a safe and happy holiday break! See you ALL next semester!

thu doan

Khanh Vu: NICE RACK ;)

Marya Sokha: Thanks for being such an amazing co-big sib and letting us use your shrimp for the Family Potluck. We need to get Starbucks soon ;)

Hoa Nguyen: Thanks for being so active in ABSA ;)

Marianne Tiutan: Thanks for making me soup makeshift and noodles that one day I was whining, "I'm hungry!" ;)

Andrew Yoon: Why aren't you ever at ABSA anymore? Are you one of those older members that just stands there and looks cool and never comes out to things? You should come back because Henry is doing a crappy job! Just kidding, just kidding ;)

Andy Wong: You are doing such a great job in Internal Branch. Thanks for your participation. Also, don't be so mean to you-know-who and her baked goods, you meanie!

Amanda Sheu: I hope you don't hate me because I called you a, "freeloader."

Angela Douangkesone: Teach me your hot dance moves, stop stealing my room mate, and stop coming to my house and leaving five minutes after! It gives me false hopes ;)

Angela Eng: I hope you have fun studying abroad next semester. I will miss you ;)

Angela Huang: Thanks for being such a great officer and friend! I love working with you a lot and I have heard only wonderful things about you from your directors! They adore you! Keep up all the great work and I look forward to reading another fantastic Informer ;)

Ankit Gupta: I am so glad that you joined ABSA and did the case comp. I hope that you're making lots of friends here! We should hang out or something ;)

Anna Huynh: Thanks for helping out with the shirts. They looked amazing. I hope you can try to make it out to more family events because we miss you ;)

Annie Li: Try to make it out to more ABSA events! I miss seeing your smiling face ;)

Anthony Cheung: Stop hitting on my little sibs ;)

Anthony Kwan: I heard you are doing such a great job as big sib in your family. Woop ;)

Bobby Tran: You are graduating soon! Why? Remember: Friends don't abandon friends! Just kidding, have a great life and keep in touch ;)

Brian Li: We still haven't gone out for brunch yet, poop! Can we please try to do that sometime this year? Please? Anyways, I miss working with you and old Academic Branch. Feed Your Mind is coming up quicker than we thought, too! Fun times, fun times ;)

Brenda Tran: Sorry for almost killing you, but thanks for actually coming to the other family events. I hope you enjoyed the Thanksgiving Potluck ;)

Candice Shim: I hope your semester is going well and your finals aren't too hard ;)

Cathy Shen: You did such an awesome job at Broomball! I was really impressed (but not surprised) that you are such a hoss. Keep up all the great work with External Branch ;)

Cindy Khuu: Thanks for doing such a great job with Internal Branch especially the Bake Sale and Swirl Fundraiser ;)

Cindy Lin: Do you haze people in your sorority. If so, you can tell me in private. I am really curious!

Cody Imamura: I hope you like your t-shirts and Family Events. I made it especially for you! I am so glad that you can actually come out to things ;)

Chang Fu: Are you excited about graduating soon? I am going to miss you! You're so sweet! Maybe we should sit down and have lunch before you go, someday ;)

Chang Liu: Sylvia and I are not in love with one another. We are just good friends. In fact, I am in love with a man and enjoy heterosexual reproduction very much ;)

Charles Lai: I am really surprised that you and I survived an entire semester without being impeached. Woop! Anyways, you and Executive Branch have done a fantastic job for Case Comp! I am looking forward to the spring one. Good luck and you are still my Favorite ;)

Connie Han: I am sure you already know what I am thinking so I won't even need to post it. It will save you the embarrassment anyways! See! I am so nice! Anyways, I look forward to seeing this amazing Informer! Keep up all the great work ;)

Courtney Chen: Great work with Internal Branch. Although it is kind of funny, I SWORE I was present last year when you pretty much VOWED never again to organize a bake sale. You love ABSA that much, eh ;)

Daniel Chao: Thanks for all your help with Feed Your Mind! I look forward to a successful event ;)

thu doan

Daniel Jong: It has been really fun having you a part of our family. I hope you like it! Thanks for all your enthusiasm, friendliness, and we hope to see you out at our future family events :)

David Chen: I never thanked you for doing such a great job with designing the t-shirt! I am really glad that we have so much talent in ABSA :)

Deborah Dou: Zi Dou! Give me back my dress! Please return to ABSA! Please! And we need to have lunch soon so stop ignoring my phone calls and texts :)

Dustin Le: Haha, "Name This Member... He's in a white frat!" Haha, oh boy :)

Ellen Choi: Why don't you come out to any of the Family Events anymore :(

Emily Jew: Great job on the field. I hope you see you out at more ABSA events :)

Emily Lai: I just wanted you to know that, as Admin Director, your job is so important to ABSA. The officers really appreciate your organization and great attitude. Thank you! Keep it up :)

Emily Tao: Thanks for the ride offer on Dean Keeton/Guadalupe :)

Eric Tsang: Eric! My favorite! Keep up all the great work in Executive Branch and your liveliness within ABSA! I notice that they still use your sash for Member and Director of Month. The one you worked so hard on? You know why? Because it is the BEST :)

Erica Chung: Yay, you're coming back :)

Eugene Hsiao: Thanks for having brunch with me that one day! It was so fun! On a side note, don't let Charles' rough exterior get to you! He's like a sweet honey bear! He really loves and cares about Executive Branch and sees lots of potential in all of you :)

Fangy: You're fired! Just kidding :)

Faye Wang: Hey Faye, I hope you learned how to make egg rolls this time and have had fun at our family events! There will be lots more to come :)

Felicia Tsao: Yay, you're coming back too :)

Frank Yang: It's nice seeing you in the Atrium every now and then. One more semester until you graduate! This is both exciting and sad news, but I am sure we will see lots of each other in Houston :)

G-Mo: Sorry for harassing you about paying dues. It is Henry's fault because he forgot to mark you as paid. Punch him in the face :)

Grace Kim: I hope you're not working yourself out with your General Mills and Internal Branch. You are so cute :)

Grace Ko: Thanks for doing such a great job as a director! I look forward to actually attending a CFT :)

Hans Malzar: Hans! Yay! Great turnout for I-Team Workshop, I thought it was a great success! Even though you say that it was all my doing (...) it was not! I think a lot of people would have gone anyways. You give yourself too little credit. You are too awesome :)

Henry Shi: Hi Henry! Thanks for all your hard work as Financial VP even though everyone says you "don't do anything," but I know better! Now, if only you can make money appear into my budget, he he! Anyways, looking forward to another semester with you :)

Hyungoo Kang: Goo! I am really excited for when you are going to make donuts for me and open your Mexican/Korean restaurant! I promise I will paint your nails as payment :)

Imran Jivani: I think you are the hottest guy in ABSA! Thanks for teaching me about cash flow and dividends. Woo-woo :)

Jacklyn Dang: Hello Jacklyn (plus Ryan and Roxie)! Thanks for helping is out with the shirts. They looked so great! I hope you can make it out to more family event :)

Jake Lin: Nice job on case comp. I guess you're graduating this year so we probably won't talk to each other anymore. Oh well!

Jan Kim Ma: Haha I guess we have upgraded to car rides! I am getting way too excited for Feed Your Mind. I am starting to have dreams about it. You have been doing such a terrific job and I love having you as a part of Academic Branch! Keep it up, girl :)

Jason Jeng: I hope you are being a productive and valuable member of the Feed Your Mind Committee, or else (shakes fist). Anyways, have fun :)

Jay Lee: You still haven't paid your membership dues, wtf man :)

Jeanna Yu: Thanks for being such an awesome director! Don't tell any of the others, but I secretly favor you just because you are Community Affairs Director, just like I was! That also means that I am judging you the most and I expect positive things from you. Tee-hee, pressure! Anywho, keep up all the creative and great work! I look forward to seeing more successes like Entrepreneurship Panel :)

Jeff Zhao: Please come out to more Family Events, please! We don't care that you're afraid of heights and are obsessed with crab puffs. We can get over that soon. We adore and miss you :)

Jeffrey Li: Jeffrey! Khanh and I (actually I) made an executive decision and we decided that you are going to entertain the family with your "Womanizer" choreographed dance for next family event. Get excited :)

Jeffrey Pao: I believe, on the day of the Family Potluck, I saw some poor, sad soul shopping by himself at HEB. Buying sweet potatoes? Was that, by any chance, you? Haha just kidding, just kidding :)

Jello: Hey Jello! Your family t-shirts are super cute. Did you guys think of that?

Jennifer Thai: I wish we were still carpool buddies. Riding alone gets pretty lonely these days. Let me know if you need a ride anywhere :)

Jeremy Fang: Nice job at Broomball. I did not know you were so athletic on top of being so charming and funny :)

Jessica Chen: Remember when I used to call you that? Anyways, yep, I am staying for a little while longer. All because of you :)

Jin Guo: I miss you :(

Joanna Chou: Thanks for all your help at GMs. I know I have already said this, but I really can't thank you enough because I would really hate to do that job :)

Jocelyn Lee: Thanks for all your guidance and support throughout this semester! Hope your load has not been too difficult or stressful :)

John Terada: Gray Suit VP, remember that? Haha well thank you for all your guidance this semester and blessing ABSA with your hot dancing skills! I don't think I would have lasted a second without you! Although I sure wish you were around a lot more and sending me messages late at one in the morning :)

Johnny Lorn: I hope that one day I will be able to try one of your cute and delectable cupcakes :)

Jonathan Fong: Even though you graduated long ago, you probably have more merit points than most real members. Thanks for driving around and coming out to the events :)

Jose Chavana: I guess you're not the worst little sib after all. Haha and you really need to learn how to use concealer next time :)

Joseph Be: I just noticed that you look like a toad. That is so cool :)

Julian Maldonado: Congrats on graduating soon! Hope you're set for life and enjoy every minute of your REAL adult life, now :)

Julie Lim: Sorry for almost killing you! You did just a GREAT job making those egg rolls for Family Potluck! Everyone LOVED them! I hope you had fun and I am so happy that you are in our family :)

Justin Liao: I saw you playing volleyball. You were awesome :)

Justin Wang: Ew.

Karen Chen: I have heard such wonderful things about the company field trips. Unfortunately, I have not been able to attend any of them, but hopefully I will get to go to PwC :)

Karen Shih: You are an excellent public speaker! I noticed that during the finalist dinner, in which, you also did an excellent job at running the event! Thanks for all your hard work :)

Ka-Wai To: Center of Attention! You're so adorable, little sib! Thanks for coming out to all the family events and chopping all those shrimp. It was intense. I hope you had fun! Now, increase my budget by 3K :)

Kat Li: Hi Kat! Sorry for almost killing you! Twas nice running into you at Tap House! I never see you at family events anymore (ok, you missed one, my bad, but it feels like a KATRillion), but I hope it isn't because I almost killed you. You know what, luckily, my car needed gas the past two times! So I didn't even drive! Please come out and don't hate me :)

Keith Chan: The other day undisclosed persons and myself were discussing how you look like a horizontal version of Lee Wang and your superb interviewing skills :)

Kelly Wong: Sorry for almost killing you and sorry for only getting to spend like 15 minutes at the family potluck! Crap, I am so full of apologies! I hope your family experience doesn't suck a lot and you still love your big sibs :)

Ken Nguyen: Hey Traitor, Our brown bag was fun! It helped me to see that you are not a complete swine, after all. Perhaps we can do it again one day and I can help you practice your interview skills :)

Khang Huynh: It is always fun chatting with you. We need to wrestle/swim sometime :)

Kim Do: I hope you are enjoying your ABSA experience and taking advantages that it has to offer :)

Kim-Long Nguyen: When are we going to have our brown bag? Soon, I hope :)

Kokilapriya Muthukumar: I hope this semester has been treating you well and your course load is not too stressful. Hope to see you out at plenty of ABSA events :)

Koosh Patel: It is always nice seeing you around ABSA and the EDS Lab :)

Kristen Baldwin: Hey Kristen! It is always nice seeing you at all of the External and sporting events. Keep up the great work :)

Lance Li: Thanks for coming to Cultural Workshop even though you know everything about China :)

Louise Ho: Thanks for all your hard work and enthusiasm to the branch! You are such a wonderful individual and have so many ideas to share with the world. I look forward to working with you again next semester and turning those ideas into a reality :)

Lee Wang: Excursion Buddy! Thanks for having dinner with me. I think we definitely need to hit up some more neat spots in Austin soon! Next time it is on me :)

Linda Nguyen: Hey Linda, it was really cool to hear your study abroad experiences during the panel. It looks like you had a fulfilling and fun experience in Italy/Europe :)

Lucy Lu: Thanks for being a great director in Exec Branch, the lovely case comp timer, and so active in ABSA :)

Lusi Xiao: Have you been clubbing lately? I hope not! Also, you should come out to more Family Events :)

Mark Wu: Thanks for all your hard work putting together the Informer. I know it is a tough job having to hound all those ABSA members for articles and meet deadlines. Miraculously, however, you three manage to do such a flawless job! You all are amazing. Thanks :)

Max Ma: Thanks for all your cooperation in Cultural Workshop :)

Mercedes Pang: Thanks for coming out to Family Event. It was nice to see you again :)

Michael Yang: I don't think I have ever/will ever eat as much Reese's as I have this semester. You are doing such an excellent job as Internal VP and fellow peer. I am definitely looking forward to another semester and another IM Basketball Championship :)

Michelle Yi Yang: I love running into you at random places in the B-School. Perhaps it is more surprising to you since, really, I am the one that doesn't belong there. Anyways, I hope that you are enjoying and learning a lot about I-Team :)

Ming Wu: You're graduating this semester. How sad! Are you going to be in Colorado? If so, I hope you have a happy life and keep in touch :)

Minh Le: I hope you are having fun at all of the Family Events. Keep on coming out :)

Molly Sun: Haha, I still can't stop thinking about you cheering during Broomball. That was so cute and funny! Thank you for all your hard work and passion in ABSA. We should have lunch in the Frito :)

Monica Nguyen: I miss having our AIM conversations about food :)

My Do: Everybody wants to marry you ;)

Nancy Xie: Thanks for all your hard work!

Nathan Chang: You know I am just kidding with you right? Don't be mad :(

Nathan Chen: Thanks for taking pictures at the events! You probably spend as much time at ABSA events as I do (and, speaking from experience, that is a ton). Thanks, man :)

Olive Hsiao: I miss our late night chats during the summer. Hope your semester has been good and you have not been working too hard :)

Patrick Chen: You are doing such a great job

Patty Huang: Hey Patty, your chipmunk dance was so adorable! If our family is not FIRST PLACE after that little ensemble, I am positive it is all rigged. Hope you had fun doing JA and at the family events :)

Peter Feng: Come out to more family events because we miss you :)

Peter Nguyen: You were such a great Vietnamese ghost. Thanks for all your help and sending in the program opportunity :)

Phuong Lam: I heard that VSA Volleyball made it to playoffs. Congrats! I am sure you are the star of the team :)

Pil Jeong: One day, you should teach me how to use all of your girly Korean hair products so I can be as pretty as you! Thanks for coming out to events and taking pictures. You're the best :)

Quan Zhang: We should hang out in Beijing together, buddy! Woop :)

Randy Santa Ana: Sweet dance moves during Family Event :)

Raymond Tran: Thanks for doing such a

Robert Huynh: I miss working with you in the branch. I hope your semester worked out well and Consulting Team is very fulfilling. Let me know if you need anything :)

Sandy Duong: Yay, Sandy! Why haven't we cooked anything from Smitten Kitchen? Also, you need to teach me how to make fish. Then I could be like, "Oh yes, I can cook fish like Sandy Duong," then everyone will be like, "Wow! Sandy cooks amazing fish!" ;)

Shalin Dalal: Ugh, ever since Charles told me you looked like a baby, I can't stop thinking about it. Why! Anyways, I hope you are learning a lot in I-Team and enjoying your ABSA experience. I hope to see you around the B-School more often :)

Shara Kim Ma: Thanks for putting on such fun and interactive Family Events :)

Sharon Hsu: Congrats on case comp (I wish I had actually seen your presentation) :)

Sherry Yang: You're the most awesome member in the world :)

Sinya Chang: You have been doing such a fantastic job as Workshop Director! I enjoyed the Cultural Workshop and Coffee Chat very much! I look forward to working with you on the next semester and fixing your BAD attitude! Haha j/k! Thanks for being a sweet addition to Shotgun and Academic Branch :)

Sondra Batbold: Thanks for riding with me back to Houston. It was an enjoyable car ride despite being stuck in bumper-to-bumper traffic. I hope you had fun in L.A. :)

Stephanie Qin: Yeah, it is very surprising that we still do not know each other that well even though I am sure that we interact about ten hours each week! Crazy, crazy! We should definitely get lunch sometime. Brown bag? :)

Sylvia Sun: We should have lunch and chat soon! I have lots and lots to tell you, but you just keep on ignoring me! I miss you :)

Thanh Nguyen: Hey Thanh, Member of the Year! Thank you for all your enthusiasm and love for ABSA! I know you are really busy and working hard as a senior, but I really hope that ABSA has been fun and fulfilling for you this year. We love you :)

Tiffany Leong: Thanks for coming to brunch with us! You are so adorable and nice! Unlike the rest of us! I hope you are able to get enough gossip for your column :)

Tiffany Wang: Hi Tiffany (it seems so repetitive because there are multiple Tiffany's)! We definitely need to have our Brown Bag before the end of the YEAR. I will try to make it a top priority goal of mine :)

Timothy Lee: This semester has certainly flown by, hasn't it? Thanks for a fun and successful semester! Keep up all the great work with Name That Member and Brown Bags :)

Timothy Tran: Hey Mr. McCombs! Great job with alumni weekend, and of course, Mr. McCombs! I don't care what anyone says, you are still Mr. McCombs in all of ABSA's heart J

Tovey Xu: We should smoke sometime :)

Tracy Nguyen: I haven't talked to you in such a long time. We should have lunch or something :)

Tuo Li: Your name sounds just like mine! Haha, you are doing such a great job as director! I am so proud of you! Keep up all the great work :)

Victoria Chiem: Keep up all the great work with Internal Branch. I am so sure that Michael is so proud of each of you. You are so sweet and kind :)

Vishal Kumar: Ah, you are graduating next semester. How exciting! Now that Imran is leaving next semester, you won't have a taxi to drive you when you are late to class :)

Vivian Gao: I am so happy you are in Academic Branch. You are always making us laugh and keeping everybody energized! I am also impressed that you have become more active in ABSA. Thanks for your excellent work and happy spirit :)

Wendy Lin: No worries! You only have another semester to go before you're off onto the next stage of your life. I really hope that we will be in touch forever because I admire you so much and positive that you will make an impact on the world. On a side note, we need to have another excursion soon! We have lots to catch up on and I miss you. Life's short :)

Won-Joo Kim: Dear Won-Joo, when are we going to have lunch :)

THANKS TO:

Deloitte.
